VOL. XXIII. MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE, MIDDLEBURY, VT., APRIL 20, 1927 No. 24

FACULTY VOTES TO ABOLISH PRESENT MID-SEMESTERS

Other Minor Changes Made in Regulations of College.

At a meeting of the faculty, held recently, the following recommendations of the committee on standards were voted upon and accepted to take effect next September:

1. That the present system of mid-semester grades be abolished and that hereafter instructors report to the Deans at once students who show a tendency to fail or neglect their work.

2. That rules 6 and 8, section 9, of the Regulations of Middlebury College be combined and amended to read as follows:

No student shall represent the college as a participant or in any administrative capacity in any athletic organization if he has failed to complete for the preceding semester 12 points credit toward graduation of which 9 shall be of at least 70% grade, or if he is on probation due to lack of entrance credits, poor scholarship or for irregularities of attendance or conduct. Students ineligible to represent the college under this rule shall not engage in athletics other than the college athletic contests.

As these rules now stand no student can represent the college in any athletic organization if he has failed to complete for the previous semester 12 points credit for graduation or if the mid-semester grades show that he is not maintaining a passing grade in 12 hours during the current semester. He cannot, moreover, represent the college if he is on probation due to lack of entrance credits, or poor scholarship, or if he is under discipline as above stated.

3. That corresponding rules 23 and 25, sections 8, relative to eligibility for activities other than athletic be combined and reworded accordingly.

4. That rule 5, section 4, which states in part that when the failure to meet the stated requirements is due to illness or necessary absence the mark "incomplete" may be given by the instructor, be changed to read "instructor and Dean." This action has been taken to check the increasing number of incompletes which have been granted students whose excuses have not been in accordance with the original significance intended this rank.

Miss A. Clark Addresses Y. W. C. A. on Rural Work

Miss Anna Clark, the National Director of Rural Work of the Y. W. C. A., who has spoken in 38 states of the Union, gave an interesting address last Monday evening before members of the Women's College.

She discussed the problems, both economic and social, facing the Rural Group in America and in telling of the meeting held recently in Chicago of representatives of the farm women of the United States, she explained what the farm woman wants: namely, beauty, culture, clothes, books, and the means of educating her children.

"Four million more children, according to census, are now being brought up in farm homes than in city homes. This means that the country is educating most of the youth of our nation. And of this number a great majority are girls. But how can the country hold them? The city offers pretty clothes, books, culture and refinement, while the country—what inducements does it contain for the progressive minds of youth? We must find a means of holding them—a way of bringing the social advantage of the city to the country."

WOMEN'S A. A. HOLDS EXCELLENT BANQUET

Fifty-four members of the Women's Athletic Association, as basketball players on the various class teams, or officials, with Miss Marion Young, Miss Mary Rosevear, Miss Eleanor Ross and Mrs. Paul Moody, enjoyed a delicious banquet at the Women's Club Rooms, Tuesday evening, April 19. The association hopes that this first banquet has been of sufficient pleasure to warrant its permanence as a customary finale of the basketball season.

At this time announcement of sweater awards to three seniors, Jeanne Theve, Lucile Norton and Madolyn Derrick was made. All-Midd emblems were awarded to Lucile Norton, Jeanne Theve, Rose Marchiano, Marjorie Sibley, Sigrid Manty, and Myrtle Bachelder. Numerals were given to the sophomore championship team, consisting of Captain Mary Tudhope, Rose Marchiano, Mary-Alice Drake, Sigrid Manty, Marjorie Sibley, Irene Avery, Carolyn Woodward, Emeline Amidon, and Eloise Comtois.

As a token of appreciation and esteem, Miss Young was presented with a leather writing case, and Miss Rosevear a bridge set.

ORCHESTRA TO GIVE CONCERT

First of Series of Concerts To Be Given Friday, April 29.

The Middlebury College Orchestra of 35 pieces, under the direction of Alfred Larsen, will give a concert in Mead Memorial Chapel, Friday evening, April 29, at 7:30. This is the first time that the Orchestra has been able to give a concert since the formation of the Music department although Prof. Larsen expects to give several more as often as the material of the Orchestra will permit. No admission will be charged.

The program will include "Marche et Cortege" from "La Reine de Saba," by Gounod; "Prelude and Siciliana" from "Cavalleria Rusticana" by Mascagni; Overture from "The Barber of Seville," by Rossini; and the Grand March from "Tannhauser" by Wagner; and other similar numbers.

The Orchestra is primarily a class in the practical study of orchestra playing where students may learn the technique of the orchestra and become acquainted with the symphony, operatic, and all other forms of the compositions of the classics.

National Recreation School Leader to Speak Here

In search of men who can become leisure time engineers, Mr. Maurice Willows will be at Middlebury College on Thursday, April 21. Graduate training for this new profession is given at the National Recreation School located in New York City.

This training center, which the Playground and Recreation Association of America will conduct, has come into being because of a demand for professional training in recreation leadership from throughout the United States. More than 700 cities have organized community recreation programs involving athletics, playgrounds, swimming pools, community centers, municipal golf courses, community dramatics, music and numerous other activities. The supply of trained leaders to direct these leisure time programs is inadequate. Upstanding men of character, resourcefulness, leadership and training are needed. The class will be limited to fifty persons.

Mr. Willows will be glad to see those interested in this new profession at the Chemistry Library.

SIGMA DELTA PI GRANTS CHARTER AT MIDDLEBURY

National Spanish Honorary Society For Upper Classmen.

Sigma Delta Pi, national Spanish honorary society, has notified Prof. J. Moreno-Lacalle that a charter has been granted for the establishment of a chapter at Middlebury. The charter members of the local chapter are Margarite de Mayo, Charles H. Stevens, Jr., James W. Elliott, Rhoda A. Hyde, and Rosalba Avitabile '27.

The purpose of the organization is to promote a live interest in the language, culture, and literature of Spain and other Spanish speaking countries. The meaning of Sigma Delta Pi is: "Let us go forward under the inspiration of Spain."

There are at present eleven active chapters of the fraternity located at the Universities of Missouri, Maryland, Texas, Southern California, California, Idaho, Illinois, Wooster (Ohio), and Leland Stanford.

Members are chosen from the Junior, Senior and graduate students with at least one semester's residence, primarily on account of outstanding scholarship plus devotion to the cause of Spanish, with no restriction as to sex and nationality. Honorary members are chosen carefully with an eye to their sustained interest in the society's welfare. A special member is occasionally received who, though not fulfilling the requirements as to units, is otherwise qualified, and deserves the honor on account of special service to the organization.

The chapter was made possible through the efforts of Prof. J. Moreno Lacalle, dean of the Spanish School. He will be glad to see personally any one interested.

FUTURISTIC DECORATIONS AT PI BETA PHI FORMAL

The annual formal dance of Pi Beta Phi fraternity was held Saturday evening at the Playhouse. Unique decorations of futuristic design rendered it most attractive. About fifty couples attended.

The patrons and patronesses were Professor and Mrs. Lewis Hathaway and their guest Mr. Kittredge, Professor and Mrs. Perley C. Voter, Professor and Mrs. Julius S. Kingsley, Miss Mary C. Dutton, and Miss Eleanor S. Ross.

Sorority representatives were Mary Birdsall, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Cleone Comings, Delta Delta Delta; Eva Menotti ,Alpha Xi Delta; Marion Morgan, Sigma Kappa; Lucile Norton, Phi Mu; and Ellen Rowley. Many guests from out of town were present.

The music was furnished by the Crimson Ramblers of Harvard University.

Music Studio Program.

An interesting program of piano and instrumental music was presented on Monday evening in the Music Studio by students of the Music Department. The program opened with the "Sonata in B flat" for two pianos, Clementi, played by the Misses Goss and Herman. Other enjoyable selections were rendered by the Misses Thompson, Maltby, and Nelson. Mendelssohn's "Concerto in G minor," played by Miss Nelson and Professor Hathaway, concluded the program.

Miss Mary Heseltine of the Hills Brothers' Company, New York City, will give a talk on "Opportunities for Home Economics Students in Business" at the Homestead, Sunday, April 24, at 7 p. m. On Monday afternoon at 2:30 in the Woman's Club rooms, Miss Heseltine will give a demonstration on time-saving desserts. All college students interested are cordially invited to attend.

BASKETBALL TEAM AWARDED LETTERS

Seven men were awarded varsity letters in chapel Saturday, April 16, in recognition of their excellent work on the basketball squad last season. Professor Fife in presenting the letters talked on the benefits derived from physical fitness. He said, "Middlebury stands for the principle of a well rounded development and takes delight in recognizing athletic abilities, faithfulness, and achievement. She feels that she is honoring herself in the recognition she thus extends to the basketball team."

The men receiving letters were, Captain E. K. Hasseltine '27, Captain-elect Carl G. Sorensen '29, Milan H. Palmer '28, Forrest J. Spooner '29, Harold L. Collins '28, Raymond S. Franzoni '30 and Manager Daniel U. Pinder '27.

Prospects for next season are very bright, as the squad is losing only Captain Hasseltine and Roberts by graduation. Hendrix '28, who left the squad at mid-years on account of marks, can be depended on for next season. Saldutti '30 and Humeston '30 though not winning a letter proved to be capable centers. There are many prospects in the Freshmen class, as was seen in the inter-fraternity tourney.

ARCHITECT TO GIVE VOCATIONAL TALK

McCulloch, New York Builder, Will Speak Here Next Tuesday.

Robert A. McCulloch of New York City, architect and builder, will address the student body, Tuesday morning, April 26, as the third speaker of the Vocational Series. He will take as his subject: "The Art and Business of Modern Building."

Mr. McCulloch is connected with the firm of Marc Eidlitz & Son, Inc., 41 East 42nd Street, New York City, which specializes in the construction of large buildings. The two latest buildings to be built under the supervision of Mr. McCulloch are the new building erected by the R. H. Macy Department Store, having 20 stories above the ground and 3 below the street level, and the $13,000,000 sky scraper recently erected for the New York Telephone Company on West Street in New York City. The latter building has 35 stories above ground and 5 below.

Mr. McCulloch is a graduate of the Columbia School of Architecture and practiced his profession as an architect for fourteen years before going into the construction of buildings. During the war he was called to Washington where he was assigned an active part in the work of the Government Housing Bureau and was placed in charge of the Government housing projects in southern New England. He later had charge of the maintenance of the Government housing developments from Maine to Seattle, Washington.

Mr. McCulloch is admirably qualified to advise any who are considering architecture, construction engineering, or interior decoration as a life work.

St. Lawrence Game June 18.

The baseball game with St. Lawrence to be played at Commencement time is on Saturday, June 18 and not on Monday, June 20, as stated in last week's CAMPUS.

The CAMPUS exchanges have been placed in the east wing of the library.

JUNIOR WEEK PLANS CONTAIN EVENTS OF UNUSUAL INTEREST

Glee Club Concert, Athletic Contests and Play to Feature Week.

Plans for Junior Week, Middlebury's annual three day holiday, which will begin on Thursday afternoon, May 12, are well under way according to an announcement made today by Chairman Hinman.

The program will open Thursday afternoon with a baseball game, Middlebury vs. U. V. M., on Porter Field. From 4 to 6 of the same afternoon, a Junior Tea to which the faculty and the student body are invited will be held in the Gymnasium. This innovation to Middlebury's usual Junior Week programs should prove an especially attractive event. In the evening, the student body and faculty will have an opportunity to hear Middlebury's champion Glee Club in its regular concert program, including the prize songs, at the Congregational church.

The usual fraternity stunts will be held Friday morning, with the Norwich baseball game in the afternoon. The much discussed Junior Prom, which the committee has endeavored to make a never-to-be-forgotten event will take place Friday evening.

The Frosh-Sophomore rope pull, Middlebury-Hamilton track meet, Junior Play and interfraternity sing will furnish plenty of activity for Saturday. The rope-pull will be held in the forenoon, and the Junior Play, "The Haunted House," will be staged in the evening, no matinee being given this year. Tickets to the play will, for this reason, be limited.

The customary inter-sorority sing will bring the eventful week-end to its close on Sunday evening, May 15. Unique souvenir programs are to be placed on sale by the committee in charge.

Dean Ross Delegate at A. A. U. W. Convention

Dean Eleanor S. Ross, as delegate for Middlebury College, attended the Fifth National Convention of the American Association of University Women, which was held in Washington, D. C., from March 30th to April 2nd.

The Convention was held to further the aims of the Association, which, in general, are for the maintenance of high standards of education. In this connection, many topics of general interest were discussed, especially the Foreign Fellowships.

One of the outstanding features of the Convention was the International Dinner held on Friday evening. Doctor Ellen Fitz Pendelton, President of Wellesley College, was the presiding officer, and speeches were made by many well-known celebrities, among whom were Sir Esme Howard, ambassador of Great Britain, Nobile Giacomo De Martino, ambassador of Italy, M. Paul Claudel, ambassador of France, Mr. Timothy A. Smiddy, minister of the Irish Free State, Dean Virginia Gildersleeve, of Barnard College, and Honorable Joseph C. Grew, Undersecretary of State. Mrs. Jardine, wife of the Secretary of Agriculture, and Mrs. Hoover shared honors as the official hostesses.

Other very interesting talks were given by Dean Eleanor I. Burns, of the Constantinople Women's College, Dr. Ethel Puffer Howes, of Smith College, and Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn, former President of Amherst.

Millikan Lecture Postponed.

The lecture by Dr. Robert Millikan to have been given tomorrow afternoon in Mead Memorial Chapel has been postponed until Thursday, April 28.

FIRE DRILLS.

Referring to the question of fire as introduced again by President Moody in Chapel Saturday morning, the Campus wishes more firmly to impress upon the minds of the students and faculty the extreme importance of the situation in Old Chapel.

Too much the question of fire in the building is entirely evaded. Old Chapel may be standing in its present aspect one hundred years from now, and yet it is perfectly conceivable that it might take fire tomorrow morning in a nine o'clock class.

If such a fire should take place, what sort of order would there be in the exit? Which exit would students use in leaving the rear rooms on the second floor? Should the upper exit be employed only by the upper two floors? Suppose the lower two stairways should be cut off before faculty or students in offices had made their exit as would be quite possible in the case of a night fire. Is there a steel ladder available in town? And just what is the fire signal?

The Campus strongly advocates that the administration have at least once a year a fire drill. Perhaps it would take five to eight minutes out of a regular class period. But with lives at stake, would it not be worthwhile?

HONOR SYSTEM.

At the National Student Federation conference held at Wesleyan last fall, it was voted by a large majority that the honor system was advisable in College, and that the good features and benefits of such a system entirely overbalance the bad features, such as the reporting of fellow students and the responsibility of upholding their conduct.

Through the history of Middlebury College every few years the honor system has been debated, liberally discussed, perhaps given a short unofficial trial and then dispelled. As a matter of fact an honor system might work well for a few years and then lose its service. It is a very plastic system. But from the recent discussion among students here of the problem, it might be well to find out whether it would meet with approval or not.

Agreeing that the honor system is a good thing, when it is employed rightly, there enters the question of what type would best fit here. Most colleges feel it necessary to invent a system that suits its peculiar situations. There is a wide difference of opinion on ways of handling the matter of reporting breaches of honor. Methods of reporting vary all the way from wholly personal action to a complete absence of the personal element. Again should the same body handle both the student government and the honor system affairs?

The chief problem lies in creating among the students a spirit of honor and unswerving resolution to put the system into effect. With the predominant good-feeling among students at Middlebury this would prove exceptionally difficult.

Honor is not an innate quality of human beings. It is impossible to instill it into them or to eradicate it from them; rather a sense of honor comes from the environment and is dependent upon the teachings and surroundings of the individual. But persistent education and trust placed in the students leads generally to the perfection of the honor system.

The Campus believes that it is possible to install an hour system here, but it could not be accomplished without an enormous amount of work directed toward educating the students up to a proper regard for honor and placing in the students an abiding trust and confidence which will be incentive. An honor system cannot be perfected in a single year, rather it must develop perfection through several years of increasing care.

Year's Tuition in University Afloat to be Given for Essay

New York, April 11.—A school year in the University Afloat on its Second College Cruise Round the World is the prize offered in a national essay contest, according to an announcement made recently by the University Travel Association, 285 Madison Avenue.

It may be won by any young man student who is now an undergraduate in any college or university in the country and goes to the writer of the best essay on one of three specified subjects.

The candidate for the scholarship is given the choice of three subjects: The International point of view in Education; The Contrast between Eastern and Western civilization; The Influence of the West on the East.

The scholarship provides for a continuation of regular academic courses aboard the S. S. Ryndam, college ship, which is now on the first College Cruise Round the World. It may also be used for post-graduate study or the study of special business courses relating to foreign commerce and international relations.

The Second Cruise leaves New York about September 20, 1927 and after visiting 25 countries will return in May, 1928. This cruise is to be a college for men with the enrollment limited to 375, instead of the co-educational student body of 500, now enrolled in the first year of the University Afloat.

In order to give the winner of the contest sufficient time to make arrangements, the contest will close May 15, 1927.

Any student interested in competing for the scholarship may obtain further information concerning the rules of the contest by writing to the University Travel Association, 285 Madison Avenue, New York City.

Dramatic Club Will Stage Plays.

At a meeting of the Dramatic Club tomorrow evening, Lady Gregory's one-act play "Spreading the News" will be presented under the direction of Ethel Palmer '28. "Up the Sandy," by Miss Lucille Baker, a graduate student, will be given by Fred Whittemore '28 and his assistants.

IN RE BLUE BABOON

A Brief for the Defense

Scene—The editorial sanctum of the Blue Baboon. The B. B. himself is discovered in a dark corner sprawling listlessly in a chair.

Enter—the editor.

Editor—Well, Babe, how are you feeling tonight?

B. B.—Pretty blue.

Editor—Hop out here into the light and let me have a look at you. Well, well, they sure did treat you rough. They have picked you pretty clean this time, I will say. About the only thing they have left on you is your M.

B. B. (bitterly)—Yes, I am one hundred per cent pure now, all right, all right. I feel like a poster for Mother's day. You would better bury me before the ground freezes up and strew carnations on my grave.

Editor—Oh well, Babe, I guess it is not quite as bad as that. Let us take an inventory of what we have left on you. Hello! How did you ever get away with this gaudy bit?

B. B.—What one do you mean, Ed?

Editor—Why, this double entendre, surprise ending thing—the one about the girl and her first Camel?

B. B.—Oh, they peeled that off me and threw it out the window, but I sneaked around the back way and got it again. I had to have it, Ed. It is the only sure trick in the deck. All the rest of the stuff is pure bunk and would not make a cat laugh.

Editor—Well, Babe, I would not turn that trick too often. The Stewed Life committee might get sore and start in to suppress you.

B. B.—Gee, don't I just wish they would try it, though! Would not that send my circulation up! I am suffering from subnormal blood pressure.

Editor—Go easy, Babe, you might get a rush of blood to the head, or whatever part of your anatomy you do your thinking with.

B. B.—Honest, Ed. these guys that censor me ain't got no sense! Why can not they let me alone? Take that old Dago writer—Plautus, was it?—look at the stuff he gets away with! And Rabelais, now—my word! And think of old Mark Twain, what those pious guys did to him! Mark was a heaven-sent replica of old Rabelais, but he fell in with some goody-goodies who cut his hair and trimmed his nails and filed his teeth and toned down his stuff so that nowadays they would admit it to the shelves of a Sunday School library in Kansas.

Editor—Yes, Babe, I have heard all that before, and, personally, I think there is a good deal in it, but you can not expect it to go down here. We have traditions to maintain. So I would advise you in the future to take "Punch" rather than "Town Topics" as your model.

B. B.—Oh, all right, Ed, you are the boss—But the next time those willyboys put me through a Turkish bath, I am through!

—W. S. B.

DR. BARTON SPEAKS AT EASTER VESPERS

Personality of Jesus Christ Is Theme of Sermon by Alumnus.

Rev. James L. Barton, D. D., graduate and trustees of Midllebury College and Secretary of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, addressed the college at vespers Easter Sunday from the text; "Behold, the World is gone out to Him," John 12:19.

Speaking of the great influence of Jesus Christ, Rev. Barton said: "The remarkable force of the personality of Jesus Christ can be seen in other than religious phases of life. In the commonplace matter of reckoning dates, the year of his birth is used as as basis. The days of his birth and his death and resurrection are commemorated by nearly all the nations of the earth. Painting and music show the part He plays in the art-life of the world. The philanthropic and peace movements of today had the origin in his teachings, and the hope of the world, all that can free it from pessimism and despair lies in an acceptance of Him.

"All this He accomplished in three short years of public life leaving no written or autobiographical comments to the world. If He were only man, we might well ally ourselves with so great a personality. For the most forceful personality of the ages was that of Jesus Christ."

OLD GOLDS SURELY WILL TICKLE YOUR TASTE
BUT THEY NEVER WILL TICKLE YOUR THROAT

1.
"O'Connor," said the chief of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, "I want you to go out and find a cough in an OLD GOLD Cigarette."
2.
"Righto!" replied "Fearless Dan" O'Connor, the trooper who had never failed to get his man. "That's a cinch," he said to himself as he mounted his horse and rode out into the Canadian wilderness.
3.
One year later, to the day, "Fearless Dan" stumbled into Headquarters, empty-handed . . . foiled.
4.
"I've worn out eight horses and covered 9,582 miles," he gasped, "but I couldn't find a single cough in OLD GOLDS."
5.
"But I did find one thing . . . the best cigarette I've ever smoked . . . OLD GOLDS."

MIDDLEBURY WINS SPRINGFIELD DEBATE

Team Victorious in Two of Three Contests in Recent Trip.

The Middlebury College debating team was victorious over that of Springfield College by a vote of two to one in the debate held at Springfield on Tuesday evening, April 12. The subject contested was: Resolved: That the Volstead Act should be amended to permit the manufacture and sale of light wines and beer, with the Middlebury representatives arguing for the negative.

The Middlebury team was composed of Albert D. Leahy, Scott A. Babcock and Samuel W. Pattee, with Gordon E. Wiley as the alternate. The debaters spoke in the order named, and the contest was a trial for the Middlebury team of a different method of preparation, for the Middlebury speakers used no notes at all during the debate. The Springfield team which opposed them was composed of Edmund H. Manley, C. D. Hadley and H. O. Pease, with E. C. Johnson as alternate.

This debate was the last of a series of three for which the team made their southern trip. The debate with Massachusetts Institute of Technology on April 9, was lost by a judges' vote of two to one, and the debaters were victors at Trinity two nights later by the same score.

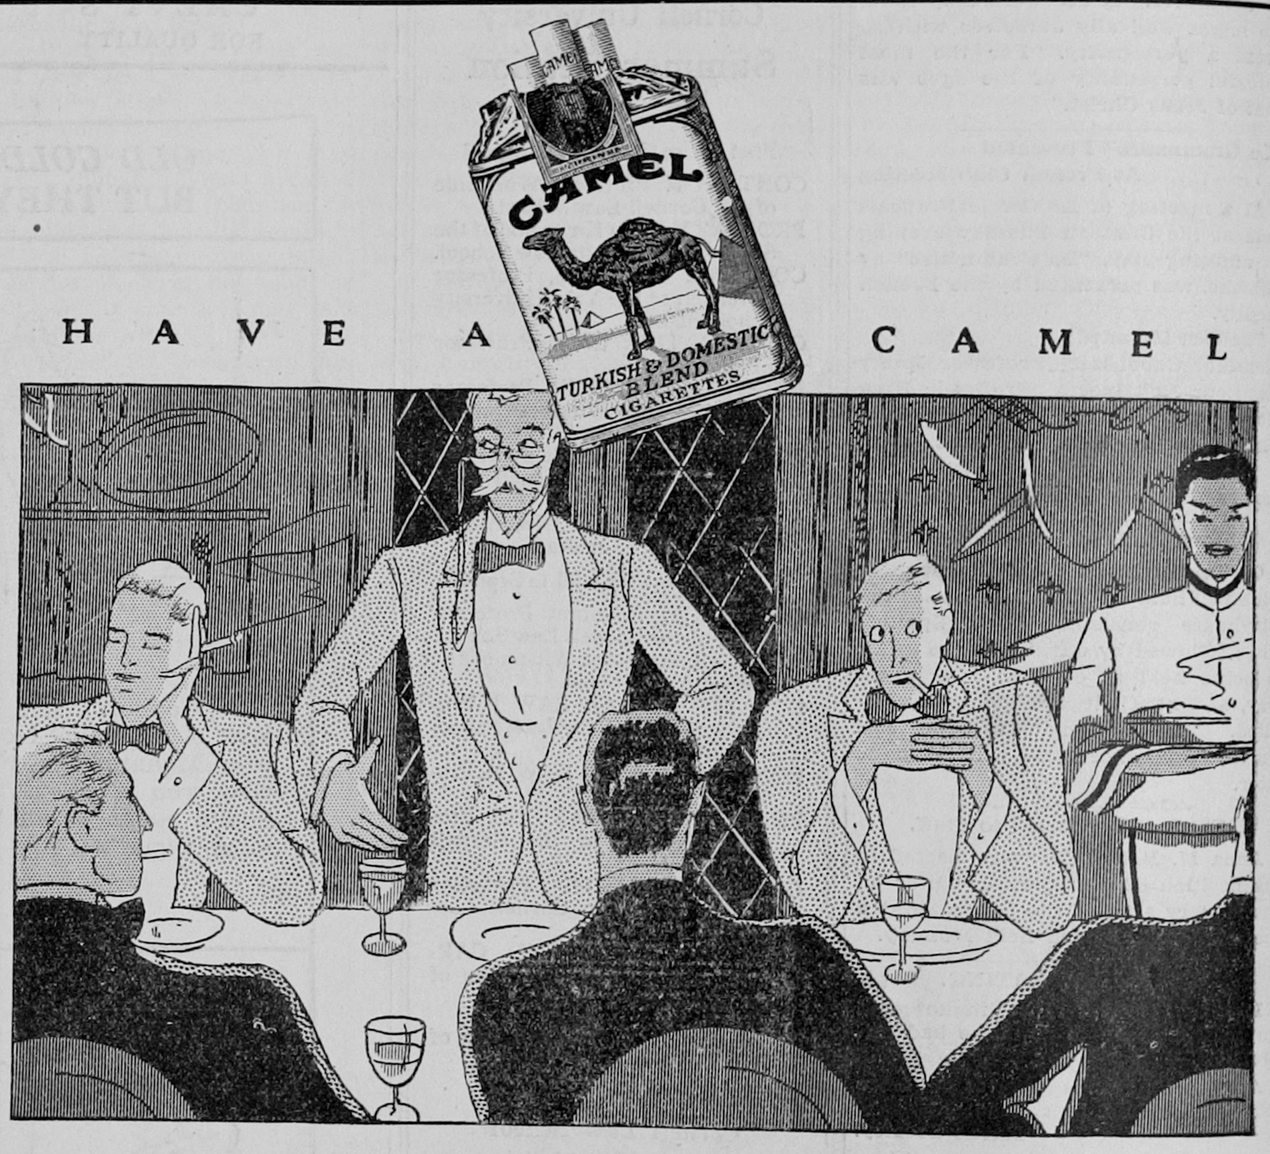
H A V E A CAMEL



Modern smoking pleasure that never fails

THE smokers of this age are the most independent ever known. Accepting no hearsay, they have smoked out the facts. They have learned that the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos grown are rolled into Camels, that here is the incomparable blending for goodness, that Camels simply never tire the taste.

Camel is the cigarette that never fails to please the modern age. Regardless of how often you want the comfort of a smoke, of how steadily you light one after another, Camel will never fail you, never give you any but the finest thrill of smoking pleasure. This is why Camel's popularity, by far the largest in the modern world, keeps overwhelmingly in the lead. As modern taste becomes more insistent upon choice tobaccos, increasing millions discover Camel's incomparable mildness, smoothness and mellowness.

If you want the cigarette that's good to live with from morn to midnight, the one that is the choice of the modern age, "Have a Camel!"
